Dominion States India Is Possibility Of The Near Future

London.—That the government might announce the granting of a Dominion status to India within the first week of the session of parliament is the subject of an unconfirmed but persistent rumor circulating in political circles here for the last few days.

The royal commission on India in India has now almost ready to publish its report after investigation in India for many months the position and desirability of a Dominion status. Indian Nationalists have long agitated for the granting of Dominion status to the great Indian Empire. But the very complicated caste system; the overvaluing of property of the Hindus and the vast animosity among the various groups in the empire has been the subject of a self-government in India is pictured.

Probably the British government decided that the great step should safely be taken at last. But steps cannot be an official government announcement of the report of the British government before admitting immediate possibility of a Dominion status within the British commonwealth of nations.

Pool In Safe Position

Recent Fall In Price Of Wheat Not Affecting Strong

Bakers.—The recent fall in the price of wheat has no relation to the present position of the pool and the demand for wheat. Dr. W. W. Simpson, Professor of Economics at the University of Manitoba, was interviewed here.

"The pool," he commented, is in a relatively safe and strong position at the present time. From the point of view of the seller of wheat, the approaching close of navigation on the Great Lakes is an advantage. The position of the pool is not so much affected by the fall in the price of wheat as the buyer of wheat. The pool is in a position to meet the demand for wheat. Dominion In Very Forefront Of Nations Adopting Aeroplane For Purposes of Business and Industry

An Eastern paper remarks that Canadian news of the Great Lakes is too much inclined to believe that, at the present stage of the national aviation, they are only a few years from progress and that the west's claims to distinction lie more in progress than in actual success. Yet in one great, and the latest, field of development, the east is far more reasonable than the west. The thoroughly erroneous conception of the proper place of the airplane in aviation, is a fact, many business men here have learned with astonishment. In 1928 more passengers were carried by airplane in Canada than was the case in the United States, and the superiority also extended to the volume of freight transported. This rather astonishing piece of information was recently supplied by the U. S. A. C. A. of Ottawa. That, as the Dominion's flying record is largely established out of sight of reporters and cameras, and that occasional failures record the expansion of the Dominion's aviation is in very forefront of the nations that are adapting the airplane to the purposes of business and industry.

It is surprising, remarks the Times, to learn that Canada last year carried 14,000 passengers by airplane, valued at 2,404,632 pounds of freight. Eastern Canada's passenger carrying capacity is comparatively minor proportion to this business of the airports. The only regular passenger route is between Montreal and Albany. New York, though, through air-rail routes, are more numerous and are more extensive to link up isolated and outlying points with the main lines. But extended to not, generally speaking, developing airmines, more than 7,400 passengers mentioned by the Times being required in areas where railways are not available and where the only means of transportation is a dog team in winter and a canoe in summer.

On the other hand, the New York paper notes, miners and prospectors are being quick to realize the advantages of air-flight, and in northern Ontario and northern Manitoba, many of the country, are thus saving weeks, or even months, when attempting to reach distant, inaccessible regions. Governments, too, are finding the airplane an indispensable aid in the exploration of the sub-arcctic, and before long the use of the airplane will remain that have not, at least, been covered by the Government. Of course, an old story, but the airplane as a means of fire protection and fire prevention, and the increasing of greater importance. In short, the development of the airplane in Canada has been immensely expedited by the utilization of airplanes. The Vinying company is cited as having last year carried over 100,000 passengers, accelerating incalculably the exploring of mineral areas and knowledge of topographical conditions.

Alberta Co-Operative Association

Membership In Lethbridge Organization Is Increasing Rapidly
At the close of its ninth year of existence, the Southern Alberta Co-operative Association, Lethbridge, had 1,835 members in Alberta, and 1,000 in British Columbia. The membership in 1927, 719 hundred new members came in the past year, and the association's total membership is now 2,835. The association has 660 shops, which handled in 1927 about 25,000 tons of goods.

The Quebec Bridge

The Quebec bridge, world-famous structure spanning the River St. Lawrence, will primarily be used for the tracks of the Canadian National Railways trans-continental line, now under construction. The bridge, carrying over 100,000 tons of traffic, is being approached by the opening of the bridge to highway traffic. Automobiles, and other vehicular traffic, are allowed to pass over in daylight hours only, and the completion of the highway approaches. The conversion of the bridge to a highway was carried out by the Government of the Province of Quebec and is costing in the neighborhood of $300,000.

Plane Flies Without Pilot

Without Human Guidance

The astounding feat of a biplane at Hayes, Manitoba, which took off without a pilot, few several miles and landed safely, is an age-old dream of the aviation world. The feat was accomplished by the use of a remote control system, which was devised by the late Dr. H. G. W. Newton, the famous Canadian philosopher and mathematician. The machine, which was a biplane, was controlled by a series of wires which were attached to a control panel in the ground. The pilot, who was seated in the ground, was able to see the plane from a distance of several miles, and was able to control its movements by means of a series of levers and buttons. The plane, which was a biplane, was able to take off, fly, and land without any human guidance.

Winipeg Newspaper Union

The Winnipeg Newspaper Union, which has been in existence for several years, is now in a state of financial distress. The union, which represents the newspaper workers in Winnipeg, has been unable to pay its bills for several months, and is now facing the possibility of bankruptcy. The union's financial problems are the result of a combination of factors, including a decline in the newspaper industry and a lack of funds to pay its debts.

Scrap From Scap Flow

Germany will be the largest scrap metal producer in the world, according to a report from the German government. The report states that Germany produced 1,000,000 tons of scrap metal in 1927, which was a record for the country. The scrap metal was produced from a variety of sources, including old machinery, cars, and other metal objects. The scrap metal is used in a variety of ways, including the production of new machinery and the construction of buildings.

Secret Of Keeping Cheaper

Putting Other People First Gives the Greatest Pleasure
An old man who had not lost his touch for many years, and who was known for his generosity, was asked by a young man how he kept so happy. The old man replied that the secret was to put other people first. He said that he always tried to do good deeds for other people, and that this was the only way to find true happiness.

A Manufacturing Nation

Canada is forging to the front as one of the leading manufacturing nations of the world. In a century ago the Dominion exported more raw materials than it imported, but now it is a manufacturing nation. The Dominion's manufacturing industry has grown rapidly in the past few years, and is now one of the leading manufacturing industries in the world.

Visitors Nip Smelters

The village of Nip, which is situated in the heart of the Dominion's smelting industry, is now a popular tourist destination. The village, which is known for its beautiful scenery and its rich history, attracts thousands of visitors each year. The visitors come to see the smelters, to enjoy the scenery, and to learn about the history of the village.

High Destiny For Canada

Domestic Must Be the Difference Between Britain and United States
The invitation to Canada to participate in the coming disarmament conference, and the indication of Canada's strategic position, its growing power, and its increasing influence, are all factors which will play a part in the future of the Dominion. The Dominion's future is bright, and its destiny is high. The Dominion is a powerful nation, and it is destined to play a leading role in the world.

Cannot Forget Their Ages

Members Of Negro Family Born For Year Of Their Birth
The Dominion has a large population of people of African descent, and it is important that they be remembered in the future. The people of African descent in the Dominion are a valuable part of the Dominion's population, and they should be given the same rights and opportunities as the other people of the Dominion.

Minerals Are Necessary

Very Important Ingredient In Food For Live Stock
The Dominion has a large population of live stock, and it is important that they be given the minerals they need to stay healthy. The minerals are a very important part of the live stock's diet, and they should be given to the live stock in the form of a mineral supplement.

True As Air As It Goes

It is pointed out that had Pary, upon arrival at the north pole, walked five feet away from it and had then walked in a circle around it he could have come home to his family in three minutes. In which statement he has been perfectly truthful—if you are one of those who hold that the Great Zeppelin flew around the world, although she was never south of 35 degrees north latitude.

Aerial Patrol Patrols

Aerial patrol of the forests in Saskatchewan is the business of the Dominion's forest service. The forest service is responsible for the protection of the Dominion's forests, and it is important that they be given the resources they need to do their job. The forest service is a very important part of the Dominion's government, and it should be given the same support and resources as the other parts of the government.

Move Jay Building Permits

Move Jay building permits from the month of September announced to the big Jay flock during the summer, and was assisted by H. M. Duggan.

AMERICAN WOMAN AVIATOR

She was the first woman to fly across the United States, and she was the first woman to fly around the world. She was a pioneer in the field of aviation, and she was a true hero. She was a woman of great courage and determination, and she was a true leader. She was a woman who was not afraid to take risks, and she was a woman who was not afraid to fail. She was a woman who was always ready to try again, and she was a woman who was always ready to learn from her mistakes.

Boy Scout Activities

Christmas Tree Regular Shows For Renting Out Toys To The Children Of Poor Families
The Boy Scouts of Canada are holding regular shows of Christmas trees for rent, and they are also holding shows of toys for rent. The trees and toys are being rented to the children of poor families, and they are being used to help the children of poor families to have a happy Christmas.

Little Christmas The Boy Scouts of Canada hold the rare privilege of holding a Christmas tree for the children of poor families. The tree is a symbol of hope and of the love of the Boy Scouts. The tree is a symbol of the fact that the Boy Scouts are always ready to help the children of poor families, and that they are always ready to give the children of poor families a happy Christmas.

From The Back Seat

Turn the right, John! Move to the right. — Now a little bit to the left! Too far! I told you so. — Back! That's right! Back a little more. — Turn it! John! That's it. — Now will you ever get it? — Grate! — Ah, now we can all talk in comfort. — Leave it there. — I know it. I told you how to do it, you'll get it sooner or later.

ENTHUSIASM.
If you can't get enthusiasm about your work, it's time to get alarmed. Something is wrong.

Complete with yourself; set your teeth and dive into the job of breaking your own record.

No man keeps up his enthusiasm automatically.

Enthusiasm must be combined with new actions, new aspirations, new efforts, new vision.

It is one's own faith if his enthusiasm is gone; he has failed to feed it.

And right here is the big reason why thousands of men hit high-water marks at thirty-five and then recede.

They can do "their work with their eyes shut," and that is the way they do it.

There have been the driving power of enthusiasm.

They sleep at the switch. All they see in life is the face of the time clock. All they hear is the quelling whistle.

If you want to turn hours into minutes, remove your enthusiasm.

WINTER TOURING
From year to year, there is a growing interest in the possibilities of winter touring in the west.

People have at all times the desire to travel and they will do so if a sound of proper conditions for operating their machines.

The Alberta Automobile Association has long recognized the need of keeping the most important highways open to traffic; and these representations have also been advanced to the Provincial Government.

The association has also advocated the use of regulations requiring new highways to have the same width between the runways as that between the tracks of motor vehicles.

This year the Provincial Government should grant the need for the problem on a much greater scale and see that the routes are kept open for winter touring and commercial purposes.

Hidden Treasure
So long as there is work to be done and the will and strength to do it, there must be cheating what master they will serve. They may prefer to pay allegiance to the past, where old standards, old beliefs, old ideas, old loyalties and loyalties, or they may heed the call of the future, where all that is new and strange and changing looms before them.

Men are of two sorts: Those who look backward for security and assurance and those who will gladly give yesterday's loyalties and trust their fate and fortune to tomorrow.

Men are grown old when time grows low in life and the past begins to drag them back from dreams and desires for the unknown future.

Yet he who wishes to hold on to youth need never lose altogether, since day that is still to come may prove richer and more fruitful than a year that is gone.

Wishes to live beyond the horizon of every new day. All that a man has done and known and experienced is but a little compared to what awaits him in the tomorrow of his time.

He who keeps his courage will not be content with past rewards while the future is so rich in promise and possibility.

DO THEY GROW OUT OF IT?
There are many superstitions about children associated with medicine in the minds of the public. Most of these are merely ancient, but some of them are serious because of the actual harm which they cause.

Among the unfortunately serious superstitions is the common belief that the child "grows out of things." This idea is far removed from the truth, and urgent of faulty conditions in childhood usually results in permanent damage. It also means that during the early years, when there is every hope of correcting the defect by means of proper treatment, nothing is done to illustrate clearly what we mean, we will refer to three conditions which are frequently neglected by parents because of this idea.

1. Speech. - Speech, or more exactly, the child's voice, is one of the most important of the child's organs. If it is neglected, it does not grow itself, and what is worse, the child's voice is wholly or partially lost. It is the child's voice which is the key to the child's mind, and it is the child's voice which is the key to the child's heart. If the child's voice is neglected, the child's mind and heart will be neglected.

2. Teeth. - The child's teeth are one of the most important of the child's organs. If they are neglected, they will not grow themselves, and what is worse, the child's teeth will be neglected.

3. Stomach. - The child's stomach is one of the most important of the child's organs. If it is neglected, it will not grow itself, and what is worse, the child's stomach will be neglected.
